Nyala: the best-seller for 7 successive years

The Nyala flatbed printer has led the European LFP sales ranking for seven years in a row. In 2021, this swissQprint model was again the most purchased in its class.

According to the Geneva-based market research institute Infosource, Nyala is one of the most popular flatbed printers in Europe. For seven consecutive years, this swissQprint model has been the leader in its category: 'UV flatbed/hybrid printers >60" (152.4 cm) wide in the 130,000 - 500,000 EUR price segment' compared to all brands and models surveyed.

Already in the fourth generation

Nyala in a nutshell: LED UV flatbed printer. 3.2×2 metre flatbed, expandable with roll to roll option and more. Maximum output per hour: 206 square meters, 370 with the speed model. Nine freely configurable colour channels. Latest ink options include neon colours for UV printing. The system covers a very wide range of applications.

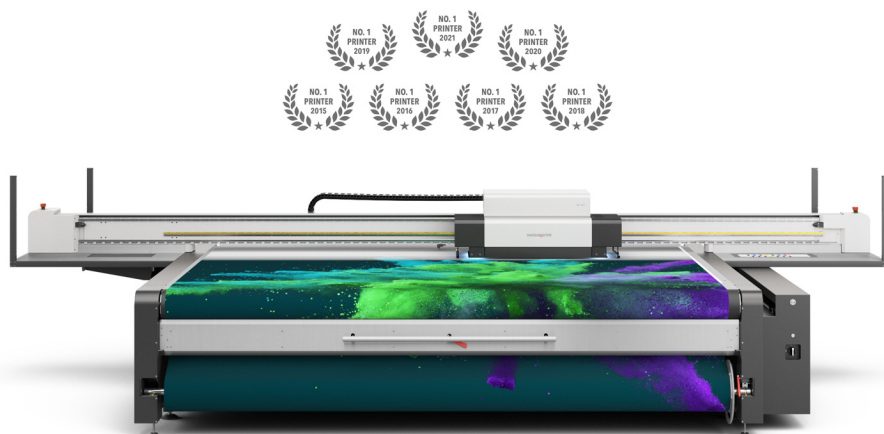

Nyala machines have been around for 10 years, during which time swissQprint has steadily released optimisations, new features and possibilities that have always benefited existing users, too. The fourth generation came to market in autumn 2021. At its core are the latest print heads, with a maximum addressable resolution of 1350 dpi that takes the already high swissQprint output quality to yet another level.
